Indian long steel prices are rallying with prices that have hit record-high levels. Raw material cost-push and supply constraints have resulted in sharp price hikes. How long will the price rally continue?

Key points of discussions on long steel

- What are the key factors driving steel demand?
- Are current price levels sustainable?
- What are export allocations of billets by Indian mills in next few months?
- Current utilization capacity of IF based bills ?
- What is the situation of steel inventories in the system?
- Update on other key global markets
