Global Ferrous Scrap Market Overview

FEBRUARY 2020

Turkey

- Deep sea cargo bookings to Turkey turned very active in Feb'20, with over 35 deep sea cargo bookings getting concluded for Mar'20 shipments, apart from other short sea cargoes.
- Imported Scrap offers to Turkey rebounded in Feb'20, climbing up by USD 20/MT over the month with US origin HMS 1&2 (80:20) reaching USD 280/MT CFR by Feb-end.
- Very active buying in Feb'20 led to buyers taking more time and negotiating for making April shipment bookings, slowing the bulk bookings in early March'20.

Japan

- Japanese steelmaker Tokyo Steel observed 6
   Price cuts for its scrap purchase in the month of Feb'20, with domestic scrap prices coming down by around JPY 4000/MT over the month.
- After the price cuts, the company was paying JPY 20,000/MT for H2 delivered to Utsunomiya works, lowest ever price levels as per records by SteelMint.
- In the last one year, since Mar'20, the Japanese scrap prices have come down by around JPY 15,000-16000/MT, falling by 44% during this period.

Pakistan

- After falling in latter half of Jan'20, imported scrap offers to Pakistan shot up by over USD 33-35/MT in Feb'20 amid active buying.
- Shredded trades in containers remained very active for most of Feb'20, even as prices continued to move up almost every day, and by end of Feb, offers stood at around USD 315/MT CFR.
- Domestic steel offers remained stagnant on weak demand, however scrap buying still remained active on slow Jan'20 trades.

Bangladesh

- Bangladesh buyers remained majorly less interested in booking imported Shredded scrap throughout the month, on inviably high price levels, while average trades for HMS were witnessed in the month.
- Bulk scrap bookings to Bangladesh turned very slow in Feb'20, with no major bulk bookings being concluded, however from Feb-end onwards, bulk bookings picked up again.
- Containerized imported scrap offers to Bangladesh climbed up for most part of the month, gaining around USD 20/MT by latter half Feb'20, before declining slightly in the last week on low buyer interest.
- Imported Shredded offers in containers peaked to USD 330/MT CFR by 22nd Feb, with very little interest from buyers at such high levels, who preferred cheaper HMS and local scrap options.

India

- The issue of container shortage started in Feb'20, due to covid19 outbreak, contributing to a sharp hike in container freight offers all through the month.
- Buying of imported scrap to India however, improved towards later in the month, with buyers trying to secure decent quantity before any significant impact of coronavirus on the market.
- Imported Shredded prices reached up to USD 310-312/MT by 3rd week of Feb'20, with decent bookings being witnessed at USD 300-305/MT levels in the month, while HMS trades remained even more active.

China

- After a gap of over 2 months, China's Shagang Steel finally revisied its scrap purchase price at the end of Feb'20, when the restrictions due to covid'19 began to slightly ease in the country.
- For all major grades of domestic scrap, the company has lowered its purchase price by RMB 30/MT (USD 4) effective from today, 27th Feb'20.
- Shagang Steel will now pay RMB 2,670/MT (USD 380) inclusive of 13% VAT for HMS (6-10 mm thickness) delivered to headquarters works situated in Zhangjiagang north of Shanghai in China, down by RMB 30/MT (USD 4) against the last revision to RMB 2,700/MT on 9th Dec'19.

Taiwan

- Taiwan's major steel mill Feng Hsin raised its local scrap procurement price for the first time since mid-Dec'19, by TWD 500/tonne (USD 16.5/MT) on improving domestic sentiments and rising global scrap prices.
- Prior to this, the company had slashed its bids for scrap procurement by TWD 600/MT in the beginning of Feb'20.
- US origin HMS (80:20) as well as Japan origin H2 scrap offers fell for most of the month, before finally rebounding during last week of Feb on global surge, with US HMS 1&2 (80:20) reaching USD 243/MT level.

TAIWAN: IMPORTED FERROUS SCRAP PRICES

Vietnam

- Vietnam Japanese scrap offers of all grades to Vietnam showed mixed trend in Feb'20. After a sharp drop early in the month, continuing Jan trend, offers surged up in mid Feb'20, due to high bids of Japanese material by Taiwanese buyers.
- Offers for Japanese H2 dropped to USD 250/MT CFR levels by 2nd week, high demand from other origins resulted in offers to surge to USD 260/MT CFR levels in latter in the month.
- After initial drop, USA origin HMS 1&2 (80:20) offers moved up to USD 290-295/MT levels by end of the month, back to the Jan-end levels, amid a volatile global market.
